ASK INSURANCE REPORT.

Senate District Committee Requests Data From Commissioners. The Commissioners have been requested by the Senate District committee to submit a report on the bill of Senator Jones creating an insurance fund for the benefit of employees injured in hazardous work in Washington. The fund would be maintained by premiums paid by the employers and the administration of the law would be in the hands of the United States employees' compensation commission. Every employer who contributes his stipulated amount to the fund would be exempted from suits for damages for injuries sustained by his workmen. The bill provides that employers not covered by the act may also contribute to the insurance fund and thereby avoid being sued for damages at common law when employees are injured. The bill fixes the limits of the compensation to be paid employees while they are disabled and provides that employers shall furnish the commission with certain data regarding their pay rolls. This data, however, would not be public property, except in the enforcement of the law. The Commissioners have not decided what will be their report on the bill.
